

Downstream: Reimagining Water

March 5-14, Concourse Gallery exhibition
March 21-24, World Water Day events

Call for Submissions

Deadline: February 1st, 2012

We invite artists to share their work investigating how perceptions of water shape our experiences with it. It's been said that wars of the future will be fought over water. Alternatively, however, water could form a path to peace. If so, what would this look like? If we are in a perpetual collaboration with water, how might this perception or acknowledgment change us?
